

Torrey Pines Golf Course - South Course

Contributed by Chris Behan
Monday, 21 July 2008

The host of the 2008 US Open is only the second municipal course to ever host an Open (the first being Bethpage Black). The South Course at Torrey Pines is considered the more difficult of the two, with the back tees being used for both the open as well as the annual Buick Invitational. If you're in the San Diego area, Torrey Pines is worth checking out.